Suddenly Polite
Why? If Is Prepared
Thought for Atheists
Strange Hangings

How politely Germany is treated, suddenly, by the victorious allies!

Recently Germany was kicked around, all her money taken by the allies, French and English soldiers camping on her territory at her expense, the Versailles treaty sternly enforced.

What a change now! England sends a clever statesman to talk it over with Hitler the moment he throws the Versailles treaty on to the rubbish heap.

Arthur Brisbane

France is almost polite in messages to Germany. Not positive threats; no more "Do as we say!"

You know what causes this. Hitler lets it be known that he has been preparing for a war in case any body wants one; that Germany has a well drilled army of half a million men and an enormous fleet of commercial air planes that would drop explosive bombs and poison gas most conveniently.

In other words, Germany is prepared, willing, ready and able to fight if anybody insists on it.

So nobody insists.

There may be a lesson there for this country, that, if attacked, could only throw a few lumps of gold at the enemy and plead: "Please be nice."

Flying is like human life in this: you do not see what it is that pulls you along through the upper air.

You look at the three engines, sticking out into space ahead of you, and see no sign of power, nothing to explain the speed and climbing power of what it is that keeps you aloft.

The propellers move at a speed that makes them invisible. You know that you move, but do not see what moves you.

A clergyman might find a text for atheists in that. Your atheist, or gentleman from Senegambia, would say: "Do not talk to me of a trinity of propellers that lead me to my destination and my destiny. If there were any such propellers I should see them."

In Austria, Nazis are supposed to have murdered the Austrian chancellor, Dollfuss. Now the government that succeeds Dollfuss will hang 17 Nazis as a start. There is nothing novel in that. Where you have dictatorship you have wholesale killings. They go together.

The interesting thing is the method of hanging in Austria. They have no "drop" which causes the criminal to break his neck by the jerk of his own weight. A noose is put around the criminal's neck, and as he hangs "assistant executioners" pull at his feet until he chokes to death. It must be a disagreeable spectacle, even for the "assistant executioners."

Learned professors tell you the saying "beautiful but dumb" is silly, untrue. On the contrary, beauty and intelligence go together. Also, there is no intelligence that is not beautiful in itself.

Follow Intelligence up through the animal kingdom. Your female gorilla is a horribly ugly creature. The chimpanzee, more intelligent, is less ugly. The lowest female savage, horrible to look at, is less atrociously ugly than the female chimpanzee, and so on all the way up.

Convicts at work in a California county road camp, in Elizabeth cañon, rebelled "because they had an hashed-brown potatoes" for breakfast. It was a substantial breakfast—prunes, cereal, griddle cakes, but no hashed-brown potatoes.

Men change. When Parmentier, for whom the excellent potato soup, potage Parmentier, is named, brought the first potatoes to France nobody would eat them.

An intelligent king ordered the nobles at court to wear potato blossoms in their buttonholes in the royal presence. Immediately the common people said, "Potatoes must be good" and ate them.

The name suggested for a new state, that would be number forty-nine, is "Absaroka," a name and state to be created by putting together western North Dakota, the northern third of Wyoming and one row of counties along the southern border of Montana.

That dreadful name chosen for this forty-ninth state, "Absaroka," is the name of the Crow Indian nation.

As long as it is to be one of the United States, why not select a United States name, Lincoln, Edison, or some other with a meaning?

Two Americans, Mr. and Mrs. Seitz from East Orange, N. J., with twenty alleged accomplices, accused of spying for Russia, will be tried in Paris within a few days. The Switzes and others are accused of informing "a foreign power" of French secrets concerning high explosives, planes built to fly through the stratosphere and across the Atlantic in six hours, and "chemical warfare secrets," which means recipes for more deadly gases.

Chancellor Hitler's Defiance of Treaty Provisions Alarms Europe; Drouth Threat Causes Wallace to Lift Restrictions on Spring Wheat Planting.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD
© Western Newspaper Union.

GERMANY, having recently boldly announced that she was now possessed of a military air force in violation of the Treaty of Versailles, still more boldly declared she is no longer bound by the obligations of that part and proposes to build up an army of about 480,000 men, comprising 12 corps of three divisions each. This was the decision of the cabinet, which decreed compulsory military training throughout the reich, and the number of men in the army will be determined by a law to be enacted later.

Chancellor Hitler

This was Chancellor Hitler's reply to the action of France's chamber of deputies in accepting Premier Flandin's plan to increase the term of conscript service in the French army to 18 months and subsequently to two years. Germany considered that France was "dealing the last blow to disarmament," and Hitler, rushing to Berlin from Berchtesgaden, directed the action of the cabinet and issued to the German nation a rousing appeal for full support. He declared that the failure of other nations to reduce armament as called for in the Versailles treaty had released Germany from all treaty obligations, and that while the reich had only peaceful intentions, it must re-arm to protect its territorial integrity and maintain the respect of the world as a guarantor of European peace.

France is in no mood to take Hitler's defiance "lying down." An appeal was sent to the League of Nations to convoke an extraordinary council to deal with Germany's violation of the Versailles pact. The note hinted at the possibilities of economic sanctions (penalties) against Germany which might result in a boycott. An attempt is being made to force Britain into an alliance with France, and the mission of Sir John Simon, British foreign minister, to bring Germany back into the comity of European nations is regarded as seriously compromised. France and Italy insist that Simon go to Berlin as spokesman of the three powers, and not as the representative of Britain alone. Premier Mussolini is said to be backing France, and is alleged to be the prime power in a scheme to revive the pre-war policy of encircling Germany with a ring of steel.

President Roosevelt expressed his hope that his "good neighbor" policy might be extended to Europe as a basis for peaceful settlement of the tense situation. Just how the President expects to prevail upon those traditional enemies to become "good neighbors" was not fully explained. He declined to say whether this government will send a note to Germany protesting abrogation of military provisions of the separate treaty with this country. Although the United States is not a signatory to the Versailles pact, the separate peace treaty negotiated with Germany includes the military phases of the Versailles treaty. Many people in this country feel that United States intervention in the European dispute is neither necessary nor advisable.

GOV. MARTIN L. DAVEY of Ohio, charged by Federal Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins with "corruption" in Ohio relief, went before the state senate and demanded a thorough investigation. He defied Hopkins to come to Ohio for trial on a warrant he had secured charging Hopkins with criminal libel. Hopkins had alleged in a letter that he has proof of "corruption" of relief administration in Ohio including soliciting of funds for campaign purposes from firms that sold relief materials. Hopkins, through C. C. Stillman, FERA regional officer, has taken over administration of Ohio relief. Department of Justice attorneys in Washington declare they stand ready to defend Hopkins, but there was no indication that Hopkins would go to Ohio, although he may change his mind. The spectacular blowup is said to have had its inception in the 1934 political campaign. Davey made campaign speeches charging that Ohio relief was mismanaged, and particularly aimed his barbs at Cleveland. This irked Cleveland leaders since relief there had been administered through a non-political group, which later became the official Cuyahoga county relief administration. Hopkins often took note of the fact that Cleveland's relief committee was "one of the best in the country." Later Davey pledged himself not to touch the Cleveland organization, but it said to have ousted several members, and repeated old charges. Cleveland leaders took the fight to Washington.

Ohio Democrats stand firmly behind Davey. The Democratic delegation in the Ohio legislature appealed to President Roosevelt "to right the wrong which has been done our governor" and Francis W. Poulson, Democratic state chairman, summoned to appear before the grand jury, delivered a scathing attack on Hopkins. Poulson charged that Republicans in high government offices "have betrayed the President," and named Hopkins as "one who could be expected to tear down the Democratic party."

CLARENCE DARROW, foe of NRA and author of the famous report which attacked NRA more than a year ago, assailed the administration's economic theories, including the national recovery act, in his testimony before the senate finance committee. The famous lawyer whose sharp speech and caustic humor have made him world famous, denounced NRA as playing into the hands of big business to the destruction of the "little fellow." He argued that NRA attacked the problem from the wrong angle and that the real trouble lay in faulty distribution, thus assailing the theory and abolishing child labor, with an assertion that it NRA had helped organized labor, reduced unemployment and abolished child labor, with an assertion that it had not helped anyway. "The people put an end to child labor," he said, "if there wasn't any room for it while fathers and mothers were out of work."

"There is no question that small business has suffered under the NRA," Darrow continued. "It has suffered more than it would have suffered otherwise."

The suffering due to continued concentration of wealth would have gone on anyhow, he said, but added that NRA accelerated it.

"I am not an optimist," he added. "I may be an idiot, but not a cheerful idiot."

RESTRICTIONS on planting spring wheat have been removed by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, who fears the effect of another widespread drouth. The year's first crop report showed that farmers intend to plant 17,847,000 acres of spring wheat is said to be responsible for Wallace's about face. Last year the acreage was 18,521,000 acres. The administration is convinced that the government and farmers have a duty to protect consumers against a wheat shortage, he said. Farmers will plan an additional 900,000 to 2,300,000 acres as a result of the new order, and will harvest between ten and thirty million bushels more, Wallace estimates. Spring wheat normally constitutes about one-fourth of the nation's crop. He denied that the European situation pointing to a possibility of increased sales had anything to do with the new decision. Farmers under contract who plant their full spring wheat acreage will receive full benefit payments, but in return will be required to agree to reduce production in 1936 by the amendment to next year's contract plus the amount negotiated with farmers includes the 1936 production control program for 1935 will be altered.

PLANS to reduce American money to a single class—possibly federal reserve notes—are being considered by the administration, thus simplifying the nation's monetary structure and making it easier to control. Before this could be established it is necessary to make widespread changes in existing laws, and this will unquestionably be undertaken when more immediate stages of the recovery drive are completed. According to a high government official, one class of money must be established in order that the government may effectively control issuance of money. Under this plan treasury notes and United States notes would be retired. The silver certificates backed by bullion now held in the treasury might be withdrawn from circulation and transferred to the federal reserve banks as was done with the gold certificates. Since the reserve banks would be the sole holder of gold and silver certificates, a definite ratio of silver certificates could thus be established.

DONALD R. RICHBERG was named by the President to head a reorganized NRA board, taking the place of S. Clay Williams, resigned. At the same time the President increased the group governing the Export Eagle agency from five to seven. A White House statement emphasized that the change was made to accelerate the drive to gain extension of the NRA through congress.

BY A vote of 202 to 191, the house voted to substitute the Patman currency expansion bill for payment of the soldiers' bonus for the "sound money" plan of Representative Vinson. A boisterous house time defied President Roosevelt's warnin that he will veto immediate payment of the adjusted compensation certificates. The administration is counting on the senate sustaining the veto.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT is looking ahead to 1936. Authoritative word has reached the Capital that he wants all controversial administration legislation cleared away at this session, so that congress can meet for a short and harmonious session prior to the 1936 Presidential campaign. Besides the relief bill, Mr. Roosevelt is said to be specially anxious to have congress pass his social security program; utility holding company legislation; a bill continuing NRA for two years; transportation regulation co-ordination; banking legislation; ship subsidy and increase in the capital of the Home Owners Loan corporation. If this can be cleared from the calendar, it may prevent any serious party squabbles that might interfere with plans to bring about Roosevelt's re-election. The White House is seriously concerned over rumors that congress may scrap a good part of the administration's controversial legislation. "

MUSSOLINI'S answer to the latest note on the Abyssinian situation postpones approval of the proposal that differences be decided by an international commission on conciliation at least until the futility of direct negotiations has been proved. The Duce made a counter-proposal to Premier Laval that the Italian minister to Abyssinia and the Ethiopian foreign minister get together in a search for personal conferences, go over all the data, and attempt to settle the dispute without the necessity of consulting the League of Nations. Direct negotiations are said to have the approval of both the French and British

Premier Mussolini

SPRING arrived in the West with a stifling dust storm which shrouded the country from eastern New Mexico to the Great Lakes. Powdered soil whipped up from the drought-scorched prairies hid the sun, and bent relentlessly upon the senses. A dozen deaths were reported, due to suffocation or heart failure induced by the dust and traffic accidents. Freight trains were kept moving, and passenger trains except along on slow orders. Schools were closed in a number of communities in western Kansas, where the mercury jumped from 2 to 3½ cents a bushel in wheat for the first time since 1932. Governor Landon of Kansas appealed to President Roosevelt for aid.

THE government is ready to sell gold to foreign nations that can offer an attractive proposition, Secretary Morgenthau announces. Recent sales to the Bank of Mexico and to Guatemala, Morgenthau points out, were made the way to similar negotiations with other countries, although he emphasized that no other transactions are being considered at this time. No conditions were attached to the transactions already consummated. In the dealings with Mexico virtually all her silver sales have been made to this country.

"We've got all the gold we can possibly use," Morgenthau added, indicating that the government would not be interested in further efforts to accumulate the metal.

COMPROMISE and White House pressure brought about the defeat of the McCarran "prevailing wage" amendment to the work relief bill in the senate, and administration leaders are confident that the measure would be laid before the President for signature within a few days. The deadlock over the amendment was broken when Senator Richard B. Russell, Jr., of Georgia, proposed a substitute which leaves the President free to pay "security wages," officials estimated at $50 a month, provided they do not adversely affect the wage scale in private industry; and providing that the prevailing wage must be paid on all emergency power-producing projects. This way out, which had been approved by the White House, was accepted by the senate by a vote of 83 to 2, after the McCarran amendment had been defeated, 50 to 38. The two votes against the compromise were cast by Metcalfe of Rhode Island and Hale of Maine, both Republicans. Before the vote on the McCarran amendment was taken Senator Glass announced he was authorized to say that if it prevailed President Roosevelt would veto the measure.

Senate action finally developed into a race to pass the measure before Huey Long returned from Louisiana. Administration forces defeated three attempts to slash the bill, and overrode protests of old line Democrats and the bill imperils the nation's credit. Senator Glass, chairman of the senate finance committee in charge of the bill, solemnly asserted:

"I stand on my prediction that this relief appropriation bill will impair the credit of the United States."

Senator Tydings of Maryland described the bill as the "greatest pork barrel ever to come before congress."

WILEY POST'S second attempt to fly from Los Angeles to New York through the stratosphere in record-breaking time ended at Cleveland, where he was compelled to come down because his supply of oxygen was running short. He said he would have "passed out" in a few minutes if he had not descended to breathable air. Post is convinced that only this trouble prevented his making the transcontinental flight in seven hours and 40 minutes, and he declared he would soon try again. His unofficial average was 276.46 miles an hour.

"When his wife fled to Europe with the child, Gatlin ceased to deposit the monthly check to her credit, in the belief that she'd write to know why. She didn't, but in some other manner he located her, and started for Europe with the intention of stealing the little girl from her. On the way to the station, an automobile struck the taxi he was in and Gatlin was killed."

"Did he leave a will?"

"He did. His daughter was his sole beneficiary. We were the executors named in it. There was a ten thousand dollar letter of credit he had purchased just before starting on his fatal trip, and half a dozen pieces of city realty, which has since increased enormously in value. We advertised for the heir but received no answer, so the estate was closed and we handle it now, as trustees."

"How do you know Mrs. Gatlin has become Mrs. Merton?"

The Left-Handed Child

Many scientists feel that forcing a left-handed child to use its right hand for writing and other purposes will cause him to be slow-minded and retarded and may cause such nervous disorders as stuttering.

Need Durum Wheat to Meet Shortage

Millers and Manufacturers Concerned Over Future Production.

Supplied by the United States Department of Agriculture—WNU Service.

For the first time in 35 years of durum-wheat production in the United States, there is a shortage of this class of wheat. Millers and macaroni manufacturers are concerned over the future production of durum wheat, because this season it has been necessary to import the grain from Canada.

Durum wheat was introduced from Russia about 1900 by Mark Alfred Carleton, of the United States Department of Agriculture. It soon became popular among the farmers of the northern Great Plains. Production increased rapidly, from about 60,000 bushels in 1901 to about 6,000,000 bushels in 1903, and probably about 20,000,000 bushels in 1906. The annual domestic consumption of durum wheat is now about 32,000,000 bushels, of which about 15,000,000 bushels is milled into semolina.

For many years the durum-wheat acreage was around 5,000,000 acres. The acreage varied from year to year owing principally to the relative market price of durum in comparison with hard red spring wheat. Formerly the market demand for durum wheat largely controlled the market price. A low price for durum usually resulted in a reduced acreage.

One of the most important phases of durum-wheat production is growing suitable varieties, of which Arnautka and Mindum are the best. High quality seed of these varieties has been conserved and is for sale to growers in adapted territory of the drouth area by the seed stocks committee. This is a part of the seed conservation program authorized by congress and administered by the Agricultural Adjustment administration, United States Department of Agriculture.

Farmers should consider carefully the growing of more durum and less hard red spring wheat this year. The Agriculture Outlook for 1935 summarizes the situation as follows: "While durum wheat supplies will be held down by a very small carry-over, average yield on an area of 3,000,000 acres would result in a new crop ample for domestic requirements and carryover. A further increase of acreage, or yield above average, would result in a considerable surplus for export." The return of durum-wheat acreage to the suggested acreage would meet domestic requirements and still keep the durum price from being controlled by world supply and demand.

Vitamin D Elements in Most All Winter Foods

In Finland, where the summer is too short to produce enough of the green food for dairy cattle, the export of butter fell off and European countries with longer summers began to produce sufficient butter. Scientists were called on for a remedy, and finally produced a food in the way of vitamized oil cake that placed the yellow into Finnish butter to revive its exportation.

In other countries, where winter is long and ultra-violet rays short or not much to produce green stuffs, scientists devised ways to conserve the vitamin D elements in forage for the winter months.

Yellow foods usually have a good supply of vitamin D, hence the protective value of oranges, carrots, sweet potatoes, yolk of egg and other foods with varying degrees of this color.

Crop Control World-Wide

American farmers who have signed up to reduce their cotton, corn or wheat acreage or the number of pigs they raise are in the same boat with the farmers of the rest of the world, says Pathfinder Magazine. This crop control or crop curb idea is now world-wide and still spreading. According to foreign observers for the bureau of agricultural economics in the United States with its adjustment programs opened the way and other nations have been quick to follow suit. While the United States leads the way in the number of crops under government regulation most of the other leading nations of the world have been farmers over agriculture and some of them are seeking to extend that authority.

DROPS TIPS ON GIRLS OF GLOBE

American Observer Frank in His Findings.

GERTRUDE BAILEY, in the New York World-Telegram.

"German girls are the most beautiful, Japanese girls are silly, Chinese girls look pretty at a distance, but not close up; English women are distinctly athletic. French women still use too much perfume, and the seams in their hose are seldom straight. Russian women are intriguing without looking nice. I can be sure that the American girl has had a bath."

Thus genial Ernest Gann, whose alertness to feminine modes and manners got him a job as director of movie tests for two companies, summed up his impressions of women of different countries.

Flip epithets about women everywhere ripped off the tongue of this twenty-four-year-old man of the world who might have been on his way to George Pierce Baker's dramatic class if he had not explained that he went through that years ago. "Why, at fourteen I had already produced a movie—just a one-reeler, 'Sweet Sixteen'—let I thought it was great art and the country called it a riot," he said.

What this happy-go-lucky blond youth learned about women in one trip around the world points to the average American girl as the "best groomed, but too concerned about getting thin" to be married as American girl whom "he is trying to fatten up").

His great disappointment, after spending $362 (part of which he borrowed) and eleven months on freighters, motor cycles, and on foot, was that he didn't even get a peek at a harem. "All I could tell about Moorish women was that they were fat and dumpy," he said.

"European men were always asking me to get them a date with an American girl. After all, it is no novelty to the American man to be told to go to h—l, but European men don't know what to make of her impudence and frankness.

"French 'chic' I found applied to International women, and not to the average French woman, who wears enough white make-up and bright lipstick to make one sick," he commented.

"English women do not wear any make-up and look frightful, but German women can wear no make-up and look beautiful.

"I saw almost as many peroxide blonds in Madrid as in Hollywood, and in East Africa a tattooed girl of the 'Berber' tribe had her snapshot with the Foreign Legion posted alongside photographs of Garbo, Dietrich and Robert Montgomery.

"You can't compare any peasants of Italy and Spain with American women any more than you could a Chinese coolie. Those who can afford to fix themselves up are very charming."

Belgian women he described as "tremendous."

"My ambition? To be chief of police in Bagdad. Aside from that I would like to produce movie shorts with a plot and an O'Henry twist on the end, finish the book I am writing and illustrating about a taxi driver, and to make a movie of a jungle tribe in Ceylon, if I can ever find one," he said.

The "liquid test"

...it ENDS bowel worries for many people

This is a test that tells you whether the system needs a cathartic change. If you have constant sluggish spells or bilious attacks, and laxatives seem to make things worse, it would be wise to try this:

Stop all use of any laxative that does not encourage variation from a "fixed dose" (which may be entirely too large a dose for your individual need). Use instead, a liquid laxative that you can measure and regulate as to dose. As necessary to repeat, take smaller doses, less and less often, until the bowels are moving without any help at all.

Doctors use liquid laxatives, and a properly prepared liquid laxative, containing natural laxative agents like senna and cascara is a joy and a comfort; a real help in establishing regularity. Ask your doctor about this! (Doctors use liquid laxatives.) You can get Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is a most dependable liquid laxative, at any drug store.

Do You Need A Tonic?

Mrs. W. E. Lowther of Greenville, Texas, writes: "Before using, W. N. N., I thought I would try Cardui, it was a great effort for me to stay up and try to do my housework. My appetite was poor, I was very sore, too. After taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription I began to feel refreshed and stronger, and in a very short time I was restored to full health and had a splendid appetite."
